

Travel and medical insurance

All applicants must submit a valid travel insurance. The insurance should as a main rule be taken out in your country of residence, i.e. Australia. Alternatively, you may take out a dedicated Schengen insurance.

- The travel insurance must cover the entire Schengen area, i.e. where you have to specify countries you are travelling to, you must list all the Schengen countries or choose a region which includes the Schengen area.
- The travel insurance must have a minimum cover of at least EUR 30,000 for:
 - medical treatment,
 - medical repatriation, and
 - repatriation of mortal remains.
- Please note that most policies are invalid if they do not cover you from departure from Australia until return to Australia, i.e. departure date and arrival date in Australia must be included in the policy.

The following insurance companies are accepted by the Norwegian Embassy. However, please note that some companies may offer specific policies with insufficient cover. It is your responsibility to ensure that the policy you choose is valid and has sufficient cover. It is also your responsibility to ensure that the chosen policy is suitable for your situation.
